GENERAL NEWS.

Sir Henry Parkes Addresses the New York Chamber of Commerce.

A CHANGE OF POLICY TOWARDS AUSTRALIA ADVOCATED

Fall of a Mountain in North Carolina—The Body of Professor Ko Kun Hua to be Sent to China.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

New York, Feb 15—Stocks are generally bearish [illegible] rally is anticipated. Reports of foreign troubles appear unfounded as none of the foreign bankers had unfavorable news. On the contrary they said that American gold at London had produced a good effect. It is intimated that both the Central and the Union Pacific are being manipulated to bring about a satisfactory basis for consolidation.

Sir Henry Parkes in New York.

A special meeting of the chamber of commerce was held to-day to meet Sir Henry Parkes and to hear an address by him on the commercial relations existing between this country and Australia. Sir Henry was accompanied by Cyrus W Field. S D Babcock, who presided, introduced the distinguished gentleman who thanked the chamber for the welcome accorded. He then proceeded with an address giving a description of the six Australian colonies, indicating that in a few years the group would become a vast empire and a great power.

An Active Day on Change.

Chicago, Feb 15—There was very active trading on change to-day and the condition of affairs was nearly panicky. Wheat declined heavily closing at four and five cents below yesterday, the lowest price for the day being six cents below yesterday's high [illegible]. Corn was about two cents lower and oats were [illegible] off and provisions are indescribably irregular with a decline for the day of about $1 25 on pork and 60 cents on lard. There has not been so exciting a day on change for over a year. The chief cause of the panic was the announcement of the failure of E. G. Kenyon & Co, a commission firm which has a very extensive trade. The extent of the failure cannot be ascertained as yet but it has captured a very large number of operators and is doubtless for heavy amounts. E W Fisher, dealer in oats, has also suspended with liabilities probably $150,000 or $200,000.

The Chicago Failures.

Chicago, Feb 15.—There is a good deal of uncertainty as to the amount involved in the Kenyon failure, even among members of the firm. One of them says country customers who were slow in responding to the calls for margins are expected to come in shortly, and that the firm will then pay dollar for dollar and resume. Another member is quoted as saying the failure will probably involve a quarter of a million dollars, and they cannot continue business. The deals were chiefly in wheat, but there were some in corn and a few in provisions. Mr. Kenyon himself is absent from the city. The uncertainty as to the amount involved arises from a lack of information about the price at which the deals closed out. Kenyon & Co and their friends have been persistent bulls on the market, and they failed once before, some years since.

Obituary of Prof. Ko Kun Hua.

Boston, Feb 15.—Professor Ko Kun Hua, the professor of Chinese in Harvard, who died yesterday, was a gentleman of high attainments and had made many friends since coming to Cambridge. He was born in Ningpo in 1838, and his whole life has been passed in literary pursuits. A number of volumes of poems were written by him in his native land, and since coming here he has found leisure to write one volume, and at the time of his death was engaged in translating it for Harvard College library. He arrived in Cambridge from Ningpo August 1879, with his wife and five children, under a contract with the college authorities to teach the Chinese language for a term of six years from that date at a salary of $200 a month. The selection of Prof. Ko was made by Mr Francis P Knight, a Boston[ian], long resident in China, who raised a subscription among wealthy alumni for the purpose, and although the number of pupils has not exceeded three at any given time, the success of the experiment has been marked. Ko was made a mandarin of the Blue Button by the emperor, and held numerous positions of importance under that government, having been, during the rebellion, a foreign secretary. He leaves a widow and six children, one a girl, having been born in Cambrige.

A Curious Case.

New York, Feb, 15—For some time past two Frenchmen, father and son, might have been seen on the streets carrying placards setting forth their grievances. The elder, Vergitudobuque, died in a Wooster street lodging house yesterday. The father and son were always to be seen in their [illegible] company, but their stories, as well as the placards, were rambling and incoherent. Being harmless, although considered insane, they were let alone, after many attempts to learn their true story. They never begged, but quietly accepted [illegible], and when offered homes in the French asylum, refused to accept. They came to this country from France to inherit property left by a brother in California, but could never prove their claim, and losing what little money they had also lost their reason.

A Falling Mountain.

Asheville, N. C., Feb. 14—Information received from Bald mountain states that yesterday a sudden and fearful crash was heard in the neighborhood of Hillsville. A rumbling noise preceding the crash was heard for miles and caused the frightened inhabitants of these mountains to recall the scenes of four or five years ago, when Bald mountain was violently threatened with volcanic eruptions. Investigation of the disturbance of yesterday developed the fact that a large portion of this peak had suddenly disappeared in the fertile and beautiful valley below, a slice of half a mile square having slided away.

Train Robbers Caught.

Kansas City, Feb 14.—About two months ago Captain Malloy of the police force received information that a scheme was on foot to rob the Missouri Pacific train five miles outside of this city and [illegible] it was found that last night was the time appointed. He was on hand with four officers and [illegible] four men armed with revolvers, masks and [illegible]. One says they intended to obstruct the track and signal the engineer. Seven men were in [illegible], the officers are in pursuit of the [illegible]. The men caught are Jim Noon, Tom [illegible], Pat Hanley and Peter Spear.

Tammany Joins the Republicans.

Albany, Feb. 15.—Tammany goes over to the republicans in both houses of the legislature. In the senate Mr. Pitts called up his resolution to vest the appointment of committees in the lieutenant governor, and the three Tammany senators voted with the republicans and adopted the resolution, and the lieutenant governor will now appoint standing committees.

Death of an Old Timer.

New York, Feb. 15—Charles Callaghan, a soldier of the war of 1812 and an esteemed citizen of Brooklyn, is dead. He was born in Philadelphia in 1794, and was for many years a merchant in that city.

A Question for Future Decision.

The World says: Have the telegraphic messages sent to Trescott in Chili by Frelinghuysen been included in the documents laid before congress by the state department? The whole of this miserable tale of American official incapacity and imbecility at Washington, playing fast and loose with American interests and the honor of the United States in South America, must be told before the judgment of the country on the public servants implicated can be righteously made up.

A Mysterious Affair.

Quincy, Ills, Feb. 15—Jews are excited because Solomon L. Zahlkopf, a Russian Jewish fugitive who reached here three weeks ago has been spirited away. A man named Shayer was last seen with him, and Jews say he was an agent of the Russian government trying to extort secrets from Zahlkopf.

In Aid of Jewish Refugees.

Philadelphia, Feb 15—A meeting was to day called by the mayor to make provision for Jewish refugees from Russia, and $5,000 subscribed. Another public meeting will soon be held.

Will have his own Way.

[illegible], Feb. 15—Gen. Fargemal has started for Algeria with special instructions to act according to his own judgment. The return of troops from Tunis is postponed.

Senator Wagner's Successor

Schenectady, Feb 15—Charles Stanford has been nominated by the republicans to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Wagner.

Stanford's Record.

New York, Feb 15—Chas Stanford, who was nominated by the republicans at Schenectady to day to fill the vacancy in the state senate caused by the death of Webster Wagner, has already served two terms and gained an enviable reputation as a legislator. He is a brother of Ex Governor Stanford of California.

Rosser will continue to reside here. The contractor on section 48 announces he will have the track finished from Winipeg to Fort William, Lake Superior, by July.

Sickly Success.

The [illegible] never fails. At Merchants Exchange all to day fifty shares of Safety Powder Co. changed hands. Promoters of the call are jubilant accordingly and predict success with a little time to get used to their business.

Progress of the Call System

President Patrick of Merchants Exchange in conversation to day expressed his full confidence in the ultimate success of the call system of dealing recently adopted. He was alive to the fact that business could not be permanently conducted on the plan of the past three days, that of throwing open doors to everyone who took a notion to stroll in and amuse himself either by watching operations or hypercritical remarks. It was, however, desirable to give a little latitude for a few days to let the public know what they were doing. Soon some system would be introduced and the advantages of call would be confined to those who wanted to pay $250 entrance fee and become responsible members. Probably the call would be conducted in the general room of the exchange but a short time until a separate apartment could be provided. He already had in hand applications for a dozen or so seats. Considerable growling had been done mainly by parties who had heretofore availed themselves of the privileges of the exchange without rendering any corresponding equivalent. He proposed to see that in future that class of critics should be debarred from creating dissention.

Cremation Society Organized.

Articles of incorporation were filed this afternoon of the first Cremation Society of San Francisco. The object of the association is the erection and maintenance of a hall to cremate the dead, and by actual trial to seek to popularize cremation and hasten its universal adoption. There is no capital stock. The promoters are mainly Germans.

Reported Murder.

News reached the city this evening of the murder of Fred Reuter to-day by Norman Holtz, at Orange, in this county. The murdered man was a resident of Santa Ana and had gone to Orange this morning on business where he met Holtz. An old grudge existed and when the men met they clinched and while in a stooping posture Holtz drew a pistol and shot Reuter in the right side, the ball coming out near the heart, and causing instant death. Deceased was a highly respected citizen.

NEVADA.

Comstock Notes.

Virginia, Feb 15—The flow of water from the Exchequer and Jacket is still very strong. The water is several feet above the 2828 foot level of the Yellow Jacket mine causing the stoppage of all underground work. It also stops work in the Imperial and adjoining mines. While some say the flow of water is from a natural reservoir others assert that a drift was accidentally run into some old workings that have been filled with water for several years.

Channels and Transportation.

Evening Telegram

The letter of Mayor Thompson to the president of the board of trade of this city would inspire a hope that a sufficient appropriation might be secured to do the necessary work on the river channel to make navigation practicable at all seasons of the year, were it not the fact that all sorts of improvements in other parts of the state are being urged upon the attention of congress as worthy of appropriations, also thus overloading the request for actual necessities with demands for luxuries. Senator Slater insists that the great evil from which Oregon is suffering is the monopoly of a railroad which has not been built, and that a canal at the Cascades, enabling boats to get around a rapid six miles in length, will open a river which is stopped at its mouth by such an obstruction as the Columbia bar and closed to navigation by the rapids extending from The Dalles city to the Deschutes. If these obstructions are to remain there is but little use in building the canal at the Cascades. It might help The Dalles city, but all the country beyond would be as much at the mercy of the monopoly as ever. This continual howl about monopoly will disgust the men who have the means to furnish the country with transportation facilities and defeat needed appropriations for the improvement of those we already have. Senator Slater's assumption that Oregon is suffering terribly at the hands of a huge railway monopoly, and that appropriations to construct the Cascades canal will afford relief, is the merest demagogy.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Action on the Chinese Bill Postponed a Few Days.

THE NEW DIRECTORS OF THE ADMINISTRATION ORGAN.

John C. New's Appointment Said to be a Stepping Stone for a Higher Office—Funeral of A. M. Soteldo.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

Washington, Feb 15.—It was expected that the senate would dispose of the anti-polygamy bill this afternoon or evening, and if that [illegible] Miller would have made a motion to take up the Chinese bill immediately afterwards. [illegible] having [illegible] further [illegible] Miller will lay [illegible] make his motion until next [illegible]. Whenever made it will [illegible] tariff commission bill which has already been partly discussed, and it is not yet safely said which of the two motions will prevail. It should also be noted that the senate at this early stage of the session usually adjourns over from Thursday until Monday, so that on the whole there is no prospect of bringing the Chinese bill to a point of action by the senate this week and not much probability that its discussion can be commenced before next Monday, although it may possibly be begun Friday. Representative Page said to day that he intends to move to suspend the rules of the house next Monday for adoption of a resolution assigning some early day for consideration by that body of the Chinese bill reported by him from the committee on education and labor.

New Owners of the Republican.

The following board has been elected under the new ownership of the Republican: Hallett Kilbourne, G G Gorham, Frank Hatton, F B Conger, William A Patton, Robert G Dun and George Bliss. The new names in directory are Frank Hatton of Iowa, first assistant postmaster general; Wm A Patton of New York, representing New York capitalists; Robert G Dun of Dun, Barlow & Co, and George Bliss of New York, a large capitalist and active lawyer, and a lifelong personal friend of President Arthur, a man who is supposed to know more secrets of the administration than any member of the cabinet, and who has been appointed by the president special counsel to take charge of the star route cases. It remains to be seen whether this paper will pursue the same course towards the star route prosecution that it has from the beginning. It would be curious to see a newspaper of which Gen Bliss is a trustee and a control of the stock of which he is supposed to have acquired, attacking star route prosecution of which he is himself chief. There are those who say it never has been the intention of the administration to press star route suits. Evidently Gen MacVeagh is one of those who hold this view of the problem. The course of the Republican will solve this.

A Cattle Commission Report.

Washington, Feb 15—The secretary of treasury sent to the senate to-day the manuscript of the report of the commission on cattle plague. It is a most exhaustive history of the plague and consideration of its causes and treatment for its extinction. The commission consider it necessary that the authority entrusted with that work be clothed with the following powers by law: To abolish or regulate the markets and store cattle indemnified to prohibit all exposure of cattle on highways or in unfenced or insecure places in infected districts, or of suspected cattle on a lot adjoining one occupied by healthy cattle or bordering on highways to prohibit the pasturage of more than one herd on one pasture unless under special license, to disinfect all premises, fodder and other articles that have been presumably exposed to infection, and to institute and enforce such minor rules as shall be demanded by the peculiar conditions of parties.

The president to day transmitted to the senate the report of the commission on lung plague in cattle. The commission conclude that the unvarying absence of lung plague, apart from contagion, is a perfect guarantee that it can be permanently eradicated and maintain that in every instance where a nation has stamped out infection no new cases appeared until there had been another importation of infected stock. Long delay in stamping out the disease in the United States means extension of it to our open cattle ranges and the impossibility of stamping it out with a near prospect of general extension of the plague and yearly sacrifice of scores of millions of dollars, to say nothing of the continued incubus on our foreign market. To delay the work of extinction which is now in our power savors of criminality.

Favorable Reports.

The house committee on commerce has reported favorably on Lasch's bill to [illegible] the [illegible] district in California, with Wilmington as the port of entry and San Luis Obispo a port of entry. It also committee has also reported favorably on Berry's bill providing for construction of a first class lighthouse and fog signals on a reef near Point Saint George in the vicinity of Crescent City, where the steamer Brother Jonathan and many other vessels have been wrecked for want of such warnings. The lighthouse board informed the committee that not more than $30 000 can be advantageously expended during the first year's work in preparing a foundation, and consequently the amount to be appropriated by this bill is fixed at that figure. The entire cost of the work will be about $300 000.

The house committee have agreed to report favorably the bill for the erection of public buildings at Boise City, Idaho, to cost $70 000, and at Leavenworth, Kansas, to cost $100 000.

Funeral of A. M. Soteldo.

The funeral of A M Soteldo took place from his late residence this afternoon. The attendance was very large and floral emblems beautifully arranged. The Baltimore American, with which Soteldo was formerly connected, sent a large column and cross. Nearly every Washington bureau was represented and a number of congressmen were present. The pall bearers were F. E. Breckford, of the New York Tribune; Harry P Goodwin, of the Washington Star; Wm Bride of the Cincinnati Enquirer; Walter Allen of the Boston Advertiser; Gen H V. Boynton of the Cincinnati Gazette; P V Degraw of the New York Associated Press; Col. L Q Washington of the New Orleans Picayune, and Mayor John M Carson, formerly of the New York Times. The final interment will be in Spring Grove cemetery, Cincinnati.

The Paymaster Generalship.

It is said to night that the senate military committee will report the nomination of Major Rochester for paymaster general favorably again. A strong fight will be made against the confirmation of Rochester in the senate. It will be insisted that he has not the right to the paymaster generalship because he was promoted over the heads of nine senior officers in the corps. President Garfield decided to appoint McClure of the paymasters corps to the paymaster generalship and probably would have sent his name to the senate had he lived.

John C. New's Appointment.

New York, Feb 15—Tribune's Washington special: The fact that John C New has already held the office of treasurer, which is better paid and more dignified than that of the assistant secretary, though not so influential in politics, has given rise to gossip to the effect that his appointment is only temporary and that he is to be given a more conspicuous place hereafter. On the other hand it is charged that his selection means the systematic use of the treasury patronage for Grant republicans.

An Elaborate Affair.

A dinner in honor of Gov Cornell and Mrs Cornell was given at Delmonico's last night by Mr and Mrs George William Ballou. The table was arranged in King Arthur style for twenty plates, and the general decorations, which were elaborate, included a mammoth center piece representing the state coat of arms. Among the guests were Gov and Mrs U S Grant, Col and Mrs Frederick D Grant, George Jones of the Times and Albert Bierstadt.

Straw Bond Arguments.

Argument in the straw bond star route cases closed to-day. Bliss contended that all that was necessary to be established was the existence of such facts as would justify a magistrate in sending cases to the jury. Hines for defense intimated that the prosecution of his clients by the government was the outgrowth of private malice. Court announced its decision will be rendered to morrow.

Recent Nominations

Washington, Feb 15—The president has sent the following nominations to the senate: U S Consuls—Bruno Tzschuck of Nebraska at Vera Cruz, Mexico; Thos Wilson of the District of Columbia at Nantes, France, and George Gifford of Maine at [illegible], France.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

[illegible]

Miller gave notice [illegible] take up the [illegible] Chinese immigration as soon as the [illegible] polygamy bill is disposed of, which is now before the senate.

[illegible] concluded [illegible] and it may reasonably pass over [illegible] address the senate in support of his proposition [illegible] arrears [illegible] tion.

The polygamy bill [illegible] the 3d revised statutes [illegible] purposes was taken up and the amendment proposed by committee on judiciary agreed upon to the fifth section which authorizes the president to grant amnesty to classes of offenders guilty before the passage of this act of bigamy, polygamy or unlawful cohabitation on such conditions as he shall think proper.

Hoar suggested a query whether under his exercise of pardoning power, which was limited to pardons and reprieves in individual cases, the president could constitutionally pardon whole classes of offenders against a particular law upon such conditions as as he may prescribe. If he could do this then he could exercise the legislative function. If the president made a pardon conditional upon payment of a certain sum of money would his act be lawful?

Edmunds said the committee had been in doubt whether any provision or point was necessary at all, and had inserted it only because the question was an open one. The object was to enable the government to say to the great body of that people: If you stop this practice and sin no more you shall not be prosecuted for what you have already done. By the general amnesty act of July 17, 1862, congress empowered the president to grant amnesty on such conditions as he might deem expedient for the public welfare. It did not therefore follow that he could as have acted without that legislation, but the act made it safe that persons should receive pardon by classification on conditions as distinct from persons individually pardoned. Whereas it was suggested by Hoar, if the president takes money for pardon the remedy is by impeachment.

The section as amended and remaining committee amendments to the eighth section were adopted. The eighth section provides for the conduct of elections, the registration and canvassing of voters, etc., in a territory until provision for same is made by the legislative assembly, provided for in the bill by appointees of the board of five persons to be appointed by the president and confirmed by senate, all of whom shall not be members of one political party, etc.

Brown moved to amend so as to require that not more than three shall be of the same political party.

All maintained that the power to revise acts of elections of officers was properly one belonging to courts and for a board to say who should constitute a legislature would be unrepublican and farcial.

Edmunds replied that the board would have no power to decide as to qualifications of electors.

Vest said the seventh section of the bill, declaring polygamists ineligible to office or suffrage, proposed to take away the rights of citizens of the United States for past offences without trial or conviction for the offense. The senator from Delaware (Bayard) had said that territorial reorganization was analogous to original organization when congress has the right to impose such conditions as were now proposed, but he (Vest) denied there was any analogy. The doctrine that the right to vote and hold office in this country when once offered could be taken away was something he had never known to be broached before, and he denounced it as arbitrary, despotic and unconstitutional declaration. He was opposed to polygamy, but in his abhorrence of it he would be careful not to strike down the safeguards of personal liberty.

Garland said it was complained that the provisions of the bill were severe and rough, but he would say they were not intended and they were nevertheless sanctioned by precedents and organic law which [illegible] power given to congress to enact all needful rules and regulations respecting territories, gave it unlimited control over territories. Let it go to the world, he added, that unpressed to [illegible] the organization of a territory found to be [illegible] to the theory that one man is inspired by God for a certain purpose and we may burn our statute books and give full license to the inspiration of Guiteau everywhere. So long as it retained its distinctive feature the Utah government could not by any possibility be republican.

Discussion continued at some length and the motion for executive session was lost, ayes 21, noes 23. After several efforts to secure an arrangement for a vote on the bill, interspersed with motions to adjourn, it was finally arranged that the measure should be proceeded with immediately after morning business to morrow, and debate close at 5 30.

Upon this understanding Edmunds consented to adjournment.

House.

Morning hour being dispensed with the house returned to consideration of the apportionment bill and Herbert continued his speech in opposition to an increase of the membership of the house.

In debate in the house to day on the apportionment bill Page said he believed the fact had been demonstrated that this bill would be voted down by a large majority. The discussion had shown the fact that members on both sides wanted fair play, and speaking for the people of California he thanked them for the earnestness and energy with which they had combatted the effort which had been made to perpetuate an injustice upon the state of California.

Joyce protested against the bill reported by the census committee, saying it was a blow at New England.

Hewitt did not fear an increase in the number of members provided a rational system was adopted for transacting public business. As now arranged the whole machinery of congress was made on the principle of "how not to do it." In consequence of the resulting paralysis, business was suffering all over the country. He said exchanges outside of New York, in comparison with last year, were largely in advance in prices noted last week and measured in quantities, business was smaller than it was last year and it was less healthily divided between manufacturing and distributing points. He warned congress that calamities greater than those which visited this country in 1873, would come upon us unless congress addressed itself to intelligent and patriotic investigation of internal revenue questions. Then the congress must be relieved from the pressure of special legislation. On the first day of this session he had introduced a wise measure to accomplish this end known as the Potter bill. He wished to bear tribute to the memory of that great man. If the house would confine itself to common sense and good order in its rules it could handle business before it, and then he said: We need not fear any numerical increase in membership.

Several members then expressed views as to the best number of representatives.

Page believed the bill of the committee would be voted down by a large majority.

Tillman opposed the bill and was in favor of a house of six hundred. During the Grant administration the house was proportionately smaller than it had ever been before, and then was the time that executive authority ran riot and when a lobby dominated over legislative authority to accumulate public money and property in individual hands. He was in favor of making the house of representatives a Gibraltar impregnable to bribery or intimidation.

Cox of N Y submitted a modification of his amendment so as to fix the total number of representatives at [illegible]. Adjourned.

Maj Campbell Wallace, president of the Merchants bank of Atlanta, is not only willing to do but generous. At a recent meeting of the stockholders he requested that his salary should be cut down to a nominal sum and the large result be divided among the employes who did the real work.

It is said that the [illegible] girls employed at various trades in [illegible] average in wages [illegible] a week.

A CROSS BABY

Nothing is so conducive to a man's remaining a bachelor as stepping into the house of a married friend and being kept awake for hours by the crying of a cross baby. All cross and crying babies need only Hop Bitters to make them well and smiling. Young man remember this.—Traveler.

Why the Tournament Collapsed

[illegible] tourna[ment] [illegible] Shaefer offered to give him a hundred points in five if he would play publicly. Schaefer then proposed that Vignaux should play him at all or any one of the four games, the all rail game, the champion game, the [illegible] game, or the 8-inch balk line game for $1 000 or $500 a side and more if preferred, on a Brunswick table. Mr Vignaux objecting to the latter stipulation vaguely expressed his willingness to play him at cushion carom or all rail if he would accept a French table. Schaefer made a counter proposal to toss for choice of tables, but Vignaux declined the arrangement and the whole thing fell through. Daly is still in Paris. Schaefer left Paris yesterday.

Condition of European Affairs.

London, Feb 15—In the house of commons to day Dilke, under secretary of foreign affairs, denied that any French troops have been prepared for embarkation to Egypt. The government still adheres to European concert as a means of adjusting foreign difficulties. He denied the existence of a reported revolt at Herat. In regard to Jews in Russia all precedents showed that English interference in international affairs of the country would meet with a rebuff and do more harm than good.

A New Form of Grain Contract.

London, Feb 15—At a meeting to-day of the corn trade association, a new form of grain contract was finally considered and drawn up for immediate dispatch to the United States. It is not published, but it is understood though the trade is actuated by every desire to meet the views of Americans, they are compelled to make very considerable alterations.

Insurrection in Cuba.

Madrid, Feb 14—The council of ministers have carefully discussed the latest reports of Captain General Pendergast who states that there is considerable agitation among Cuban autonomists, especially among its advanced liberals and the colored population of the eastern provinces of the island. It was decided that Pendergast should have full powers given him for the energetic repression of all secessionist intrigues.

EQUITABLE

LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY,

120 Broadway, New York.

LIFE INSURANCE PROFITS DEMONSTRATED BY ACTUAL SETTLEMENTS

MADE PRIOR TO 1882.

The Society is now paying maturing Tontine Policies with the following remarkable results

POLICIES CARRIED TEN YEARS WITH THE RETURN OF ALL PREMIUMS PAID AND INTEREST THEREON.

1st Example: Policy No 43 563, issued May 25, 1868. Amount ... $10,000 00
Total premiums paid (11 years) ... 5,504 60
The assured was entitled to draw in cash, $6,455.80—having had besides $10,000 of assurance for eleven years. 118 per cent of premiums paid returnable in cash.

This example and those which follow show that

LARGER PROFITS ARE PAID POLICY-HOLDERS THAN ARE NOW DECLARED BY ANY OTHER COMPANY.

2d Example: Policy No 58,543, issued Dec 30, 1870. Endowment 20 years. Tontine Period ten years. Amount ... $10,000 00
Total premiums paid (10 years) ... 7,589 00
The assured on Dec 30, 1880, was entitled to draw in cash, $9,035 10, 120 per cent of the premiums paid. These results although predicted by carefully made estimates, are

NOT ESTIMATES, BUT ACTUAL CASH RETURNS.

3d Example: Policy No 41,621, issued March 27, 1869. Amount ... $5 000 00
Total premiums paid ... 2,908 95
In this case the assured withdrew, March 27, 1880, in cash, $3,312 45, being 114 per cent of premiums paid. Many policies will be thus paid in 1882, showing

CASH RETURNS OF FROM 100 TO 120 PER CENT. OF THE PREMIUMS PAID.

Assets securely invested of $43 000 000. Surplus, nearly $10,000 000. The Society's popularity is shown by the fact that for the past eleven years the total amount of new policies issued has been greater than that of any other company in existence, thus making its average

ANNUAL NEW BUSINESS LARGER THAN THAT OF ANY OTHER COMPANY.

The Society pays death claims promptly and in full. Its policies are clear and concise, and with no unreasonable conditions.

EVERY POLICY BECOMES INCONTESTABLE AFTER THREE YEARS.

DEALING IN IMAGINARY COMMODITIES.

In Chicago the sales of grain often reach ten million bushels and some times thirty million bushels per day. These are the nominal transactions. Small part of the grain indicated by these enormous figures is actually in existence. Speculators deal in imaginary quantities and fictitious values. The market is as clear an abstraction as any quantity in pure mathematics. In general the figures given as representing the amount of sales stand for unknown quantities of grain, and it is rare that their actual values are ever evolved. When it happens that the equation is cleared of speculative fictions whole crowds of speculators are often eliminated, or completely rubbed out, in the process. One set has the upper hand to-day and another to-morrow. Chicago alone buys and sells grain enough—in her mind, as the current slang has it—to feed all mankind.

San Francisco is about to begin dealing in supposed quantities instead of actual quantities of grain. From the interior press there are vehement and even passionate protests against it. The system is denounced as "the opening of a new gambling hell in California," to take the place of the old swindling system of mining-stock deals. It is not based, indeed, on any tangible capital, goods, or grain, but is a mere transfer of "paper contracts," or a dealing in "future deliveries" of wheat or other commodity,—a dealing in which the great bulk of the transactions is based on nothing, and the necessary settlements are made by putting up the "differences." But after all it is not easy to show how it hurts the farmer. The history of Chicago transactions shows that the speculative competition brings on the whole higher prices to the farmer than he would obtain if it did not prevail. In other words the strain of speculation on the whole forces up prices. True, after every great "deal" the market is demoralized for a season; but these seasons are usually short, and the farmer is not hurt who has wisely embraced his opportunity to sell.

But there is much to be said against the system. It rolls up big fortunes on a single venture, and inflicts on the other hand corresponding disaster and ruin. It "corners" the market against consumers, and sometimes causes an almost universal embarrassment of the poorer classes. It enables one class to strip or oppress another, and to a great extent makes luck and money, not legitimate enterprise and integrity, the basis of worth and success. It is perfectly true that it is a huge gambling system. Every element of gambling is in it; and yet it has assumed the form of regular and legitimate business in almost every large market of the world. A writer in the Nineteenth Century, the well known English magazine, says:

> At the present time, no matter whether the seed has not yet been sown for the new crop of cotton, purchases can be made early in the year for a winter "delivery" of that cotton; wheat you shall have for any month named; pork, bacon or lard will be sold for delivery when the very pig has not yet been slaughtered, and, may be, is but a suckling; or iron when the rough ore has not even been extracted from the vein. It has even been unblushingly recorded that one dealer, bolder than the rest, sold the "catch" of a certain salmon river in Oregon two years ahead, when probably the salmon whose capture was concerned had not obtained the dignity of a grilse.
> The system once started, rapidly found supporters everywhere, and has been an important factor in revolutionizing the course of commerce.
>
> Taking cotton as the leading example, it has now come to this: that whereas the total production of the world available for European and American consumption is some 7,000,000 bales of 425 lbs. each, the turn over of "future delivery" contracts in American, English and continental markets amounts, it is estimated, to the stupendous total of 80,000,000 bales, of the value of nearly £1,000,000,000 sterling.
> This is the "speculative turn over" by means of paper contracts, in one article alone. What is the turn over in grain, provisions, sugar, iron, etc., is less easily ascertained, but in the aggregate it is probably very much in excess of the dealings in cotton.

It is apparent from all this that the system, though it bears so close a resemblance and relationship to gambling operations, is coming into use very widely in the business world. It has its attractions as a sort of lottery; but success in it does not depend wholly on "blind luck," as some might suppose. There is room in it for sagacity, pluck and enterprise—qualities which in the long run win in everything. San Francisco, in adopting the system in wheat transactions, only follows an example which a custom of trade not only sanctions, but almost forces upon her.

RIVER AND RAILWAY.

A Dalles paper publishes a document addressed to the national board of trade, which sets forth the need of completing the locks at the Cascades, and dwells at great length on the oppressions suffered by The Dalles, as a wheat shipping point, from the rates now charged. The Dalles has shipped during the past year about 400 tons of wheat at a cost of $5 a ton, making the enormous sum of $2000. To accommodate this trade the sum of $750,000 more is wanted, to be expended on the locks this year. If completion of the locks at the Cascades would open the Columbia river to the great wheat country east of the mountains, then this undertaking would be entitled to precedence over all others for which the aid of the government is asked. But it will open the river only to The Dalles, which though a point of local importance, can not from its position command the grain trade of the great eastern country; so that, while completion of the locks at The Cascades, provided boats can stem the current, will be useful to The Dalles and the near surrounding country, it will afford no help whatever to the country beyond. The great wheat-growing region of Eastern Oregon and Washington can be reached and served only by railroad. When grain is loaded on the cars it will come right through on the cars, whether the locks at The Cascades are ever completed or not. So soon as the road is completed to Portland there will undoubtedly be a reduction of rates from all points. Mr. Villard intimated in one of his talks to the people (we think at Walla Walla) that a uniform rate of perhaps $4 80 a ton would be made for grain from all points east of the mountains. In time this rate will of course be subject to further reductions. As yet there are no better facilities of transportation between Portland and The Dalles than existed years ago. It is premature, therefore, to expect great reductions until the company has had time to get its railway lines into operation. We do not say that the locks at the Cascades will be useless, or that they ought not to be pushed to completion. But we do pronounce it absurd to say or suppose that they will be the means of reducing freights, either up or down, for the great body of the people east of the mountains. They will be of some local value to Wasco county, if ever completed so that ordinary steamboats can reach them from the river below; but long before this comes to pass the entire "upper country" will have become accustomed to the use of the railways, and even The Dalles will find that it has but small use for the river. The only criticism this journal has ever made upon construction of the locks at the Cascades has been founded on the fact that the work is one merely of limited and local utility, and that it forestalls other undertakings that might be pushed to the benefit and advantage of all parts of the country.

SOUTHERN POLITICS.

All accounts agree that the southern mind is now tending more towards independence in politics than at any time for the past thirty years. The long-expected reaction against the iron rule of party seems to be at last in actual progress. Men of the south are finding out that there are other objects in life than those of politics and partisanship. This comes about through the natural force of circumstances. At last the south is becoming convinced that what it needs is peace, social development and industrial progress. State sovereignty may be a cherished idea, but it will not produce a pound of iron, a bushel of corn or a bale of cotton, nor will it set in motion a single spindle. The revolution which bayonets could not bring is on the point of accomplishment as the work of industrial and social forces. Unless the signs are misleading, the old confederate alliance is about to be disbanded, and the great southern commonwealths are ready to enter upon the race for supremacy unfettered. The dream of the new south is to rival the industrial activity and material progress of the north; and who shall say that it is a baseless vision? It has already been pointed out, in connection with the Atlanta exposition, that this section possesses within its own boundaries all the elements of unbounded prosperity. It is also worthy of note that there is a probability of a division of interests between the states of the gulf and those of the Atlantic seaboard. The latter center their hopes in east and west railroad lines, and their cities aspire to be one day the rivals of those of the northern coast. Their natural allies are therefore the New England and the middle states. The former look to the gulf of Mexico as their natural outlet, and are bound to the great states of the Mississippi valley by a tie of nature's own forging. It is not impossible that, at no distant day, the alienating force of this consideration may become important and apparent. There are almost innumerable influences—commercial, political, and even sectional, to use the term in a new and better sense—which are working out the certain emancipation of the south from the clogs of its old career. These are more potent forces than those of war, and they work a far more complete transformation.

Reagan of Texas is pressing in the house of representatives his bill to regulate inter-state commerce and prohibit unjust discriminations by common carriers. The central idea of the bill is embodied in a proposition to make it unlawful for persons engaged in transportation of property by railroad from one state or territory to another to charge or receive from one person any greater or less amount of freight, compensation, or reward, than is charged or received from any other person for the like and contemporaneous service; and in no case shall more compensation be charged or received for carrying for a shorter than for a longer distance. The bill is in the hands of the committee on commerce.

A dispatch from Washington states that prominent members of the house committee on Pacific railroads, referring to the subject of the proposed compulsory forfeiture of land grants by various railroad companies which have not complied with the law, said that quite probably the Pacific railroad committee will not act on the matter until after the judiciary committee has decided on the power which was vested in the respective railroads by the land grants.

There are 561,000 tenant occupiers of farm lands in Great Britain, the average size of each farm being about 56 acres. Improved and cheap methods of ocean navigation and low rates of railroad freights have placed the American free-hold farmer almost as near the great markets practically as the English rent-paying farmer.

The work of building progressed very rapidly in New York last year, 2682 permits having been requested of the building bureau. Many of the new buildings are of the first class, as is indicated by the fact that the aggregate cost of the structures was estimated at $43,391,306.

Influence against the Hawaiian treaty accumulates. The board of trade and transportation of New York, recognizing that the treaty is detrimental to the public welfare, approves the measure introduced in congress for its abrogation.

The decline in tonnage rates between the Pacific coast and Europe, which THE OREGONIAN predicted several months ago, has come to pass, but too late to be of much benefit to the wheat producers of Oregon.

A CARD.

TO THE PUBLIC.—IN ANSWER TO SEVERAL articles of abuse in the Vancouver Independent, relative to the steamer Calliope, I wish to make the following statement: I did not have the small-pox nor varioloid. My disease was measles. The steamer was not tied up as stated by the Independent, but made regular daily trips. I am the man who was thought by Chief of Police Lappeus to have had the small-pox, in which he was in error. The articles in the Vancouver paper were deliberate falsehoods, without the least foundation. They were prompted, no doubt, by malice, as the editor, after promising to do so, did not retract them. I was born and raised at Vancouver, and my home is now there. I was not put off there by the captain of the Calliope, but went home of my own free will. 1t JOHN H. AIKEN.

CITY.

HOSE CARRIAGE WRECKED.—Last night about 20 minutes to 10 a false alarm of fire was turned in from box 4, probably the pastime of some hoodlum. The hose carriage of Columbia No. 3 was wrecked on the corner of First and Morrison streets, where it was being hauled on the sidewalk. In trying to "jump" it upon the southwest corner of the street, the wheels struck against the curbing and broke the springs, letting the reel fall to the ground. About the only "rigging" left in its proper place was the lamp, which was lighted to prevent passers-by falling over the "sad remains." It seems that a little caution could have prevented this accident. Willamette Co. No. 1 failed to turn out.

NEW PLAN.—Yesterday the police authorities tried a new plan with the gentlemen, who after arrest and sentence, decline to improve the muddy condition of streets by use of hoes, brooms and scrapers. Heretofore they have been allowed to work without badges of incarceration, and passers-by would have reason to think they were paid laborers. Four vags refused to work. These were chained together by the legs and marched up First street, with hoes upon their shoulders, and two policemen in addition to the regular guard, as escort. Postscript—They worked.

RECKLESS SHOOTING.—At two o'clock this morning Samuel Lewis of Washington county, with whom Portland whisky does not seem to agree, was in the National hotel saloon and taking a revolver out of each pocket stepped to the door and began firing. By the time half a dozen shots had been discharged against the buildings on the opposite side of the street, policemen Branch and Putnam reached the saloon and arrested Lewis, lodging him in the city jail.

UNITY'S ENTERTAINMENT.—To-night Unity Lodge No. 25, A. O. U. W., will give an entertainment, to which all members of the order and their friends are invited. Mr. H. D. McGuire of East Portland, Miss DeFries, Miss Belle Castleman, Miss Tuckolsky and other people of talent will assist in the musical and literary part, and the treat promises to be a rare one. Miss Tuckolsky of San Francisco is an accomplished musician and her songs will be the feature of the evening.

MOW'S MUG MUTILATED.—Yesterday afternoon Ah Mow, a rather sad case of humanity, was brought to the police station in company with Frank Garrett by a police officer. The Chinaman said that Garrett had struck him in the face with a rock, and showed as corroborative testimony a very badly skinned nose. A complaint of assault and battery was made against Garrett and the Chinaman locked in jail with him as a witness.

REPAIRED BUT NOT REPLACED.—There has been a misunderstanding and consequently considerable talk concerning an ordinance passed by the common council providing certain streets, with new sidewalks and box gutters. The people living on these streets seem to think that all the sidewalks will be replaced by new ones, while they will be repaired only in places where it is absolutely necessary, and at as light expense as possible.

OREGON BIBLE SOCIETY.—At a meeting of the city pastors and resident clergy of Portland, held yesterday, in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association, it was voted to hold the regular annual Sunday services of the Oregon Bible Society in three of the city churches, viz: the Taylor street, the Baptist and the Christian churches. Speakers and programme will be announced hereafter.

ESCAPED PRISONER ARRESTED.—About 11 o'clock yesterday morning, Geo. Hadlock, who broke out of the Marion county jail with other prisoners, on the 6th inst., was arrested and taken to the county jail. He was found on Columbia street, between Front and Water, and will be returned to Salem to-day, in charge of Sheriff Buchtel.

WAREHOUSE BURNED.—Yesterday morning the warehouse of Lurch Bros. at Cottage Grove, Lane county, was consumed by fire, together with 4000 bushels of wheat belonging to various parties. The building was valued at $6000 and was partially insured. The origin of the fire is not known.

RAILROAD SURVEYS.—This morning, Mr. P. Zacher, an engineer of the O. R. & N. Co., leaves for Walla Walla to begin a survey for a line from Walla Walla to Pendleton. This will run through the Wild Horse district, the finest agricultural portion of Umatilla county.

THE MINSTRELS.—Last night the Acme Minstrels drew a good house at Masonic hall. Their singing, for amateurs, was good, and the programme was well received. To-night they appear at Nepprach's hall, East Portland.

QUICK TRIP.—The Columbia crossed in at 8 A. M. yesterday, left Astoria at 9:30 and touched her dock here at 4 P. M.—54 hours from port to port, and within one and a half hours of the fastest passage on record.

INDICTMENTS FOUND.—Indictments for robbery were yesterday issued against Lawrence, Darrough and Lilly Parker, of the Cascades. No true bills were found against James Cronin or Chas. Crowley.

THE BISHOPCROFT.—Yesterday the carpenters put together the frame for Bishop Morris' new residence, corner Nineteenth and E streets, which will be one of the finest edifices in that neighborhood.

LAST NIGHT'S LECTURE.

The subject of civil service reform was most ably handled at the Unitarian chapel yesterday evening. Mr. Sears in an admirably condensed paper gave the story of the spoils and patronage systems in England. It is a mistake, said he, to associate the present evils of our system, with republican institutions. Patronage is really an inheritance of feudalism and kingcraft. The corruption of England passing over from the court to parliament, culminated in Walpole's time, when all places were unblushingly bought and sold and bribery was rampant. At last the outrages and scandals in the service on every hand, moved the minds of leaders in cabinet or parliament to propose restrictive measures, and the country passed thro' the eras of the pass system of examination, the limited competitive system, and finally to the open competitive system, at every stage gaining strength with the people till now a member of parliament or prime minister even has no more power to obtain a place for a favorite or to reward services than has any other citizen. The reform in Great Britain started with older and graver abuses than we have yet reached, and this reform was achieved without political division, through good men of all parties. Mr. Sears came from a sickbed to read this paper, but it left nothing to be desired in matter or delivery.

He was followed by Mr. W. B. Gilbert, who sketched most ably the history of our American spoils system from its germ in the scheming mind of Aaron Burr, through such politicians as Marcy, Van Buren and Jackson to the modern era of bossism, machines and party whips, and the black code of politicians, with its four heads: 1, "Politics is a game, in which office is the prize; 2, death to all bolters; 3, boundless protection to friends, of whom none must suffer for deeds done for party; 4, implicit obedience to the boss." The example of Swarthout, the infamous New York collector, was given, and other flagrant abuses cited to show what effrontery the spoils system assumed. The principle of political assessment is nothing but plunder of the treasury, and the whole fabric of our civil service, is in woof and warp, a system of political reward and punishment, imperiling sometimes actually, and always potentially the peace of the state. Calhoun well said, prophetically, "you must put this thing down, or it will put you down."

Col. Effinger was not present, having been unexpectedly summoned to Salem on court duty, whence he expected to return by the evening, but was not able. At closing the theme Mr. Elliot read a brief peroration of George William Curtis, from his latest utterance upon this greatest of national themes. The papers were well received by the excellent audience assembled. Miss Clark, during the evening, furnished two beautiful songs. The next lecture is not announced as to date, but is hoped for during next month, from Dr. Stebbins, of San Francisco.

THE ALLEGED MURDER.

No New Developments—How a Stranger was Roped in, Drugged and Robbed.

New facts and circumstances are hourly b[illegible] to light concerning Carrie Bradley and her [illegible] places. Little out of ordinary occurrence [illegible] part of those implicated which are rememb[illegible] their acquaintances, although at the time [illegible] sidered but trifles, are now found to be [illegible] necting links of evidence which, when skillfu[illegible] together, will make a strong chain of proof [illegible] them. It was yesterday told to an OREGONI[illegible] porter that a few days after the body of Brow[illegible] supposed to have been thrown into the ri[illegible] Hamilton, he slept with a friend and showe[illegible] his body about the chest was swathed in [illegible] Hamilton said, in explanation, that he had [illegible] into trouble with a billiard player, and start[illegible] rush upon him, when he fell and broke a rib [illegible] left side. This only corroborates the fact th[illegible] rode with the others on the hack in which Br[illegible] body was taken to the river, and fell off the [illegible] where he was run over, receiving those injur[illegible] before stated. Some persons are of the op[illegible] that Dolly Adams is the real murderess and [illegible]ley only accessory, and that Adams, thinking the crime was about to be looked into, told the sto[illegible] to protect herself, which may possibly be true. [illegible]ever, Bradley has always had a deserved reput[illegible] of keeping a most "crooked" den, where drug[illegible] and robbing a man was looked upon as a com[illegible] event and a matter of business.

A prominent citizen of Portland yesterday told an OREGONIAN reporter of the following occurrence, with the understanding that his name, as well as that of the party concerned, who is a man of family living in Eastern Oregon, be suppressed: The man came to Portland from his home on business, stopping at a well known hotel, where he carried himself in a most exemplary manner, oftimes refusing an offer to drink even a glass of beer. On the night in question a "steerer" for Bradley got hold of him, and by telling him a plausible story that a friend of his was in difficulty in the house and needed his assistance, succeeded in "roping" him into the bagnio. Here they prevailed upon him to take a drink, and after a few minutes he became insensible. When he returned to consciousness he found himself lying on the sidewalk with a policeman bending over him, who took him to the police station. Here it was discovered that he had been terribly beaten about the head and face, his whole upper clothing being discolored with blood. Upon reaching into his pocket to get money to deposit for his appearance he discovered that he had been robbed of all he had in his possession, about $160. He then sent to some friends at the hotel, who got him out of jail. He was under medical treatment for a week afterward, being unable to go to his home. His bail deposited at the police headquarters was forfeited, as he objected to the notoriety of the affair. This is but one instance of the many of the dastardly acts that have been played there, but shows the character of the house. The reputation of the place was not so widely known but that even a citizen of Portland would now and then get "fleeced." In short she was the proprietress of a low, cut-throat dive, in which almost any measures were taken by the inmates to get money, but in which these criminal features were carefully concealed.

The grand jury yesterday brought indictments charging Carrie Bradley, Pete Sullivan, Charles Hamilton and John Mahone with murder.

Sullivan was not arrested; he gave himself up. He was at Woodland, Cal., and after reading an account of disclosures published in the San Francisco papers Sunday he immediately telegraphed Chief of Police Lappeus asking whether he would be wanted as a witness. If so, he would come. On receiving an affirmative answer he surrendered himself to the sheriff of Yolo county.

The premises of Bradley have been thoroughly searched and thus far no traces of crime have been brought to light. The impression prevails that the story of Welch's murder in the house was a pure invention by one of the girls. That she told this story is true. Adams and Flippen are still in the county jail, but are not allowed to converse with outsiders about the crime.

FATAL TERMINATION.

William Harrigan Dies from the Effects of a Kick—James Wilson the Assailant.

At half past six yesterday morning, Wm. Harrigan, the man who was kicked in the groin at Greenwich dock, Tuesday afternoon, and afterwards taken to St. Vincent's hospital, died from his injuries. His assailant was James Wilson, formerly night watchman at the Nicolai House, but latterly a longshoreman. Harrigan had lived here a number of years and was better known as "Wide Awake," because he was always ready for a knock down blow, or a wrestle, or a boxing match. A reliable gentleman who happened to be on the dock saw the affray and related the following version of it to an OREGONIAN reporter. Wilson poked fun at Harrigan for his manner of handling wheat and unpleasant epithets mutually applied followed. Harrigan invited Wilson to settle the matter with blows and both squared for a fight. After sparring for a few seconds, Wilson let drive with his right fist, as if to strike his opponent in the face, when he suddenly drew back and kicked Harrigan in the groin. The latter doubled up for a minute and then proceeded with his work. Wilson put on his coat and left the dock. Harrigan carried one sack of wheat to a dray and sank to the floor. Very soon after he was taken to the hospital.

Late Tuesday night Chief of Police Lappeus asked Harrigan to give the name of his assailant. This he refused. He never "blowed" on any man. On more than one occasion he had been the victim of severe punishments from men of superior skill and strength, but could never be induced to lodge complaints against them, though it was certain they would be fined. His ruling characteristic was strong in death.

Wilson boarded at the Minnesota House, and shortly after supper went to his room, donned his spare suit, started away, and has not been seen there since. The opinion prevails that he left by the "State." If he did, his arrest in San Francisco is certain.

Baled hay sells for $15 a ton in Ashland.

Snow is still four feet deep at Fort Klamath.

An express office has been established at Linkville.

Hay is in demand and commands a good price in Jacksonville.

The Ashland woolen mills were stopped last week by ice in the flume.

The thermometer stood at 16 deg. below zero at Fort Klamath on the night of the 2d.

Some of the fields in Jackson county will have to be re-seeded on account of the freeze.

The mountains along the upper Coquille are covered with snow, yet the stock in that locality is reported as doing well.

The stage, south bound, from Canyonville was delayed seventeen hours on the 10th owing to a heavy land slide in the canyon.

James Wilson, who formerly followed coal burning near Jacksonville, has been sentenced to five years at San Quentin for attempting to kill a man in a drunken row at Etna, Cal., last November.

Rains have supplanted the freeze in Jackson and Josephine counties and the miners there have now a prospect of a successful run. This is especially true of Josephine county, where the rainfall has been greater than usual.

Peter Barwert, an employe in a Jacksonville distillery, while at work in the cellar last week looked into a barrel of whisky with a lighted candle in his hand when the alcohol took fire and flaming up suddenly burned his face and hand severely. But for timely assistance he would have been fatally burned.

The youngest child of G. W. Vincent of Table Rock precinct, Jackson county, aged about seven months, one day last week fell backwards from a chair into the fireplace, burning its head quite seriously. Floyd, youngest son of Robert Kahler, of Jacksonville, was also severely burned about the neck last week, by falling on a hot stove.

GARFIELD COUNTY.

A Newly Developed Region—Chances for Profitable Business.

MAY VIEW, Garfield Co., W. T., Feb. 13.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The section known by the above name is located on Snake river in the new county of "Garfield," which was formed by a division of Columbia county. Almost the entire population of this county has immigrated here since the Nez Perce war in 1877. Four years ago but a few acres of land was broke where at present thousands of bushels of wheat and other products are now raised. The first summer that settlement existed here there was a school taught by private support, and a school district formed with 35 pupils. Last year the district drew $320. There is a good schoolhouse built for both school and church purposes, so that all denominations have equal privilege. During last summer four denominations held service, and a union Sunday school was carried on, and at present we have a school, a literary society and occasionally church.

This county is much warmer and freer of frost than the Palouse, but not so warm as at Walla Walla; yet I think almost all varieties of fruit will do well in certain localities, and if peaches are excepted it would require no selections of localities. The soil is a very deep, rich, black clay loam, which is adapted to wheat, oats, barley, small fruit and vegetables. I think the average of last year's crop was fully 30 bushels to the acre.

This country being new, it is not supplied with stores, blacksmith shops, and wagon shops, as it should be. There is talk of a town being started at Mr. G. Dixon's, which would be one of the best points for business that I know of. It is an intermediate or central point in a vast wheat growing district, which raised from one hundred and fifty to two hundred thousand bushels of wheat last year, and I doubt not that two years more will double that amount. Any one desiring a business location would do well to inquire of Mr. Dixon. A wagon road is now being constructed from this location to Bird's bend on Snake river, where there is a good opening for a ferry; also, as soon as the road and ferry are in operation a stage route will be a paying undertaking, as this would connect two very rich parts of the country and save several miles of travel over the circuitous road now traveled. This would open up a new mail route which the stage would get.

Pomeroy is located about eighteen miles and Pataha City fifteen miles, both southwest from this townsite, and Hemmingway's about ten miles northwest, giving a large country to build up a good trade. Any one desiring to establish a store would do well to see that a good blacksmith shop is started as the people now have to go from fifteen to twenty miles to get a good job done. We have a few blacksmiths but they are farming and scarcely ever prepared to work. They merely set up their shops for their own convenience and are not regular workmen.

SUPREME COURT.

SALEM, Feb. 15.

Court met at 10 o'clock A.M. Present, Lord, C. J.; Watson, J.

M. Shively and Susan Shively, respondents, vs Geo. W. Hume, J. William Welch, Mary Welch and W. W. Parker, appellants, appeal from Clatsop county; decree of the court below affirmed.

Opinion by Lord, C. J.

SYLLABUS.

Every proprietor of land through which flows a stream of water has a right to the use of the water flowing in its natural channel, without diminution or obstruction, and this is equally true of water which flows in a well-defined and constant stream in a subterranean channel. But it need not flow continually; it may at times be dry, but it must have a well-defined and substantial existence.

The interference of equity vests on the principle of a clear and certain right to the enjoyment of the subject in question, and an injurious interruption of this right, which, upon just and equitable grounds, ought to be prevented.

A. E. Wait, appellant, vs the heirs of Daniel Harvey, respondent; argued and submitted.

FEES OF DOCTORS.

The fee of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in just at present. We believe the schedule for visits is $3 00, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1000 a year for medical attendance alone! And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1000 and all the year's sickness.—Post

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 15.

Wheat which has been weak at $1 60 all week, has declined to $1 57½, and we learn of two small transactions at that rate to-day. Comparatively, nothing is doing.

There has been a drop of ten shillings since last Friday, when a vessel was taken at 75s for U. K. The City of Lucknow, 1195 tons, whose charter was rumored yesterday, has been engaged to load for U. K., and her rate is 65s. The Sam Mendill, 1030 tons, has also been chartered for U. K. at 65s, and the Ullock at the same rate. The last named will probably load for Liverpool direct, in which case her rate will be 2s 6d less.

These engagements leave four disengaged vessels in the river, as follows: Levi P. Burgess, 1616 tons; Crown Prince, 987 tons; Josellarer, 656 tons, and Sir Launcelot, 880 tons.

Local dealers are paying 85c per bushel or $1 42 per ctl. for potatoes. The highest San Francisco quotation is $1 75 per ctl. When to the first cost ($1 42 per ctl.) is added 29c, which freight, transfer and commission to San Francisco cost, but the very slender margin of 6c per ctl. remains. Even this 6c is lost by the loss in weight in shipping, which averages fully twenty-five pounds to the ton. The State of California, which sailed yesterday, carried away 6500 sacks (105 lbs. each), for which the owners hope to get $1 85 per ctl., though they have not good grounds to base their expectations. The daily consumption of San Francisco is about 2500 sacks, and the daily receipts, not reckoning Oregon shipments, from 1500 to 2400. The deficiency is not so great that prices can be run up to any considerable extent on it. The steamer sailing from here at the last of the week will carry out about 3500 sacks.
